The Marder of the Negro Williams. CORONER'S INQUEST—ADDITIONAL ARRESTS, ETC.

The investigation into the circumstances attending the murder of William Williams, a negro, at the corner of Leroy and Washington streets, on the 14th uit., was commenced yesterday at the Sixth precinct station house by Coroner Nauman. In addition to John McAllister, the police of the Twenty-eighth precinct succeeded in ar-resting two men, named Edward Canfield and James Lamb, who have also been identified as participators in the murder. The prisoners were present during the examination, and manifested great interest in the progress

Captain Dickson, of the Twenty-eighth precinct, testified examination, and manifested great interest in the progress of the case.

Captain Dickson, of the Twenty-eighth precinct, testified to finding deceased at the corner of Leroy and Washington streets, in a dying condition. The injured man was removed to the hospital; but he only lived a few hours. A large block of russ pavement, weighing about twenty pounds, was lying near deceased.

Sergeant Grant deposed that he was in company with Captain Dickson when deceased was found; the negro was covered with blood and seemed as though he had been pounded with a large paving stone which was lying alongiside him.

Edward Ray, of No. 133 Leroy street, deposed as foilows:—On the morning of the lith uft. I was standing at the corner of Washington and Leroy streets, when a colored man asked me where he could find a grocery store; just then a man named Edward Canfield approached us from Jones' liquor store and asked the negro what he wanted he replied that he wanted he land a grocery store; thereupen, without further werds, Canfiela struck and knecked him and jumped upon him, and with his boots kicked him and jumped upon him, and with his boots kicked him and jumped upon him, and with his boots kicked to the negro's eyes; I dentify the prisoner, James Lamb, as the person who cast a paving stone at deceased; subsequent to the kicking by Canfield, and the throwing of the stone by Lamb, a third person came up and attempted to stab deceased with a bowie knife.

Emma Finandrean testified as follows.—On the morning of the lith uit, my cousin called me to the window of our house, No. 138 Leroy street, and, joining the others, kicked deceased; this man i recognize as Edward Canfield, now present, a man with black whiskers came from the direction of Jones' liquor store, and, pulling of his coat, seried a paving stone, raised it as high as light had and then let it fail with full force upon the colored man's kicked deceased; this man i recognize as Edward Canfield, now present, a man with black whiskers came from the direction of Jones' l MOBBING THE TRIBUNE OFFICE. House, is a Marylunder by birth, and professes intense disgust for the administration and abolitionists generally. The city editor of the Tribuse, Mr. England, identified the prisoner as having been at the head of the mob. inciting them to go in and clean out the whole establishment. Mr. Tenny, employed in the publication office, also recognized the riotously inclined barber, and testified to his taking an active part in the attack upon the building. Whitter deales the charge preferred against him, and says he can prove an alibi. When taken into custedy a lot of rebel scrip and some pieces of pootry decidedly secession in sontiment were found upon his person. The prisoner was brought before Justice Kelly, at the Jefferson Market Police Court, and committed for examination.

Terrific Termado Near Poughkeepsie.

[From the Foughkeepsie Eagle, Angust I.]

About six o'clock Thursday evening information reached us that a severe tornado had visited the country about three miles north of Foughkeepsie. The first appearance of the result of the hurricane is visible on the borth side of Budd's Hill, on the Van Valksenburg property. At this point the ternado seemed to have made its first appearance, coming from a southwesterly direction. Here there are two or three apple trees torn up by their roots and carried some distance from their base. Proceeding down the hill through the hollow, covering in width about three or four hundred test of the country thereabout, the tornado struck down a field of twelve acres of corn, belonging to Mr. Allen, completely destroving it.

The east side of the tornado then passed the corner of Mr. Allen's dwelling, learning ph is woodhouse and taking it nobody knows where. In this vicinity it also tore up by the roots all the trees in an adacant apple orchard, numbering nearly seventy. Further along in its course it came in contact with a barn belonging to Mr. Cornelius Jordan, filled with grain and hay breaking great, heavy timbers, burling them in the air, and completely demolishing the structure. At this point the stone wall is blown down in many places and the telegraph wires are tied up in a knot.

We are informed that stones weighing over one hundred pounds were picked up of the wall and burled thrity or forty feet. Great heavy boards and timbers from the barn can be seen fifty or one hundred rest from the building.

The tornado then passed along within three or four feet of the white school house, and thence to the outbuildings on Mr. Cornelius Jordan's place, picked up a large corn crib, moving it fifteen or twenty feet.

The roraring sound accompanying it was terrific. Mr. Jordan stated that it sounded as though a hundred rail-road cars were passing. Nearly one hundred trees hav HERALD of the death by drowning of Mrs. Loomis at Concy quested to correct. It is stated that "the supposition of many who saw the deceased and Dudley go into the water is that some foul play was practised towards her." It appears that Mr. Dudley is the accepted suitor of the appears that is "Puthey is the accepted suitor of the daughter of the deceased, and his attachment to Mrs. Loomis partock of the character in which he thus stood prospectively related to her. To please her he went into the water with her but, unfortunately cotting his foot, he was compelled to go ashore some little distance. On his return, in about twenty minutes, he was astonished to learn that Mrs. Loomis was drowned during his absence. These are briefly the facts of the case.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

SATURDAY, August 1-6 P. M. Money was in rather better inquiry to-day, and most of the leading bankers were able to get 6 per cent, though many loans were made at 5 towards the close of bank hours.

Gold dropped to 128 on the reported successful advance of General Gillmore towards Fort Wag-ner, and exchange to 141 a 141½. At three P. M., when most of the brokers left the street, the rate for gold was 128 a 1281/6. The stock market was quite buoyant this morning, notwithstanding the habit which many operators have of selling out their stocks on Saturday and going in again on Monday morning. New York Central rose to 129, ex-dividend; Eric to 195, and Harlem to 1251/2. From these figures there was some reaction at the close of the call; but before the end of the day the market was all buoyant again. The coal stocks took quite a start. Delaware and Hudson rose 10 per cent, with more offered at the advance, and Reading 2, closing buoyantly. The Western shares were hardly so strong, though the quotations of last evening were fully maintained. Governments were firm and State stocks active. Missouris rose I per cent, in spite of the efforts made in certain quarters to depreciate them. As a whole, in the afternoon, the market was very buoyant. There was no afternoon session of either board, as usual on Saturdays, and the heat was so intense that most operators left the street early.

The business of the Sub-Treasury was as follows to-day:-

at the port of New York for the week ending July 31, 1863, were $1,884,577. Stock Exchange.
